

Robert Wernli

"Competition and Networking - This is Just the Beginning," will discuss the short- and long-term benefits of participating in engineering competitions such as the AUV and ROV events that are now conducted world wide. Both career and financial benefits of the participation in such events for those with a desire to enter the science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) fields will be discussed.